

AQUITANIA ARRIVES WITH TWO HIGH U. S. OFFICERS

Lieutenant-General Hunter Liggett and Major-General Dickman Aboard Vessel.

REACH GOTHAM DOCK TODAY

Cunard Liner Bears Seven Other Prominent Army Men From France to Resume Peace-Time Posts in This Country.

NEW YORK, July 19.—Among the nine general officers who arrived on the Cunard liner Aquitania, and who will land tomorrow morning at the delaware dock at Hoboken, N. J., an array of returning army leaders unequalled heretofore on ship.

Lieutenant-General Hunter Liggett, to whom only General Pershing was senior in France, and Major-General J. T. Dickman, Fourth corps commander, whose part in the St. Mihiel offensive was of the first importance.

The other general officers were: Brigadier-General Marlon Craig, chief of staff of the First Army; Dennis E. Nolan, head of the army's intelligence section and assistant chief of staff of the expeditionary forces; W. B. Hurt, chief of staff of the Fifth Army Corps; H. C. Smith, O. N. Barnum and Reese, and Major Squire, chief of the signal corps.

Lieutenant-General Liggett, commanded the First American army corps and, after the armistice, he was in command of the Second Department. He was expected that he will soon be known as Major-General Liggett, no provision having been made by Congress for the perpetuation of his present title of lieutenant-general.

After arriving, he will report at Washington and will then report to San Francisco to assume command of the Western Department. He is expected to be in command of the Second Department just before the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

General Dickman has been assigned to command the First Army Corps, now commanded by General Cabell. It was General Cabell who ordered the United States troops enter Mexico.

General Morrison, whom General Liggett will succeed at the Western Department headquarters in San Francisco, will go to Camp Lewis, Washington.

SEND FRENCH WAR BRIDES TO FORT WITH HUSBANDS

Regular Army Men With New Wives Will Be Assigned to Colony at Ogilthorpe.

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., July 19.—According to information reaching Fort Ogilthorpe, all American soldiers who have married French women and who intend to remain in the regular army service are to be transferred to the Sixth United States Cavalry and sent to Chickamauga Park.

It is planned to provide homes for all these soldiers and their wives in a particular section of the cavalry barracks, and several of these married men have arrived at the post and been assigned dwellings. One of the first men to arrive with a French bride was M. M. Pierce, a horseherd, who served with the Third Cavalry two years in France.

Lieutenant-Colonel W. R. Henry said today that he had received notice from the War Department of the transfer of French war brides to the post, and it is reported that Commandant Scott is planning to establish a regular French colony for soldiers with French wives sent to the post. It is stated that several hundred returning soldiers who have French brides are to be transferred to the cavalry branch of the service, and sent to Fort Ogilthorpe as fast as they arrive from overseas.

COLORED MAN IS STABBED

Kenneth Gallimore Comes to Virginia Hospital With Serious Wound in Chest.

Kenneth Gallimore, colored, of 5 East Canal Street, was taken to the Virginia Hospital in a serious condition late last night, following a quarrel with a colored woman, in which he received a deep knife wound in the chest.

Officials of the hospital asserted late last night that Gallimore's condition was probably fatal. According to Gallimore, the woman who stabbed him had been a former sweetheart and the wound was made by a knife which she had hidden in her apron.

Police are attempting to locate the woman.

CONSUMERS WANT ACTION

Seek Remedial Legislation Rather Than Investigations of Living Costs.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Housewives are rather "fed up" with congressional investigations of the high cost of living, and would prefer enactment of remedial legislation, Miss Jessie Haver, legislative representative of the National Consumers League, wrote today to Representative Tinkham of Massachusetts. Mr. Tinkham has introduced a bill appropriating $50,000 for a nation-wide inquiry into living costs.

Churches Are Preparing for Drive for $75,000,000 for 30 Days to December 7.

(By Associated Press.)

NASHVILLE, TENN., July 19.—The organization for the $75,000,000 Baptist drive, which is to be put on by all Southern Baptist churches November 30 to December 7 is progressing rapidly.

Practically all States of the South are to have meetings next week, at which State secretaries, State organizers and State public men will perfect the association organization.

These officials will carry the organization to the churches, which are getting ready for the drive.

"There comes from every section of the South an encouraging word," said Dr. L. R. Scarborough, director-general of the campaign, today. Dr. Scarborough, president of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Nashville, Tenn., as head of the big drive, has established his office here.

Dr. Scarborough leaves here tonight for Little Rock, Ark., where he will speak to a large mass-meeting of bishops on Sunday. Tuesday he will address the State meeting of workers at Dallas, Texas.

GRATEFUL MOTHER ERECTS ALTAR OF THANKSGIVING

Mrs. Henry Brooke Gilpin Presents Offering for Safe Return of Sons From War.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] WINCHESTER, VA., July 19.—Mrs. Henry Brooke Gilpin, of Baltimore and "Scully Manor," Bryce, Va., whose two sons, Captain Donald Gilpin of the artillery and Lieutenant Kenneth N. Gilpin, of the naval aviation service, are active service in France, has given a new altar and credence to Christ Protestant Episcopal Church at Millwood, Clarke County, as a thanksgiving offering for the safe delivery of her family from the perils of war.

The altar takes the place of a holy table, which has been placed in the chapel. The credence is in panels artistically carved with delicate gilt decorations. A small brass plate over the credence table contains the following inscription:

"Thou dwellest near in the day that not. As a memorial of His great good, I called upon thee, thou saidst: 'Fear not and in the glory of the Triune God, this altar credence is placed in this church by a grateful mother at the close of the world war, 1914-1919.'"

NOSKE WARNS SOCIALISTS

German Minister of Defense, in Out-lining Berlin Meetings, Says Martial Law Imminent.

BERLIN, July 19.—Reminding the Socialists of both factions that martial law still prevails in Berlin, Gustav Noske, the Minister of Defense, pointed out that the holding of open-air meetings and parades within the limits of Greater Berlin would be prohibited during the next month. The reminder was drawn out in part by the fact that the majority of the Socialists had refused to attend the party to hold demonstrations after working hours.

Young Men's Watches

Whether you want the best watch for every day—a substantial, accurate, serviceable timepiece—or whether you desire a finely wrought, delicately adjusted mechanism, we will supply the watch you want at a price lower than elsewhere, because we are out of the high rent district. May we show you our large assortment?

Diamonds

See our gorgeous display of these wonderful stones, correctly graded—flawless. We are out of the "high rent" district—our prices are lower.

J. T. ALLEN & CO.

JEWELERS, Fourteenth and Main Streets.

40,000 PERSONS ATTEND ALLIED ATHLETIC GAMES

Gay Crowds From Paris Throng Immense Pershing Stadium on Opening Day.

FIFTEEN NATIONALITIES ENTER

Is One of Most Brilliant Spectacles France Has Ever Seen, Even in Pre-War Times—Contestants' Costumes Are Popular.

PARIS, July 20.—Over 40,000 persons, representing fifteen allied nations swarmed into the Pershing Stadium at Joinville, the joint gift of the U. S. C. A. and the A. E. F., on the opening Sunday of the inter-allied games, to make that occasion one of the most brilliant spectacles that France has ever seen, even in her colorful days before the war.

The fifteen contesting nationalities, with their teams, their bands and their staffs, all composed of soldiers who had fought and survived the great war, were an interesting sight in themselves. But throw all these nationalities—Arabs, Czech-Slovaks, Portuguese, Anzacs, Yank and all the others—against the blazing white of the concrete stadium, the blue of a perfect Parisian summer sky, the kaleidoscope of the allied, the rainbow of uniforms, Paris military and parades, and the blue of the Y. M. C. A. girls, and you have the picture—a vivid splash of color and motion, which all Paris is still talking about.

Day to Be Remembered. It was a day to be remembered, and the onlookers who packed themselves tightly into the grandstand will never forget it.

And then, up and down the sandy streets of the stadium camp were plenty of little mademoiselles with papas and mammas and their French—or American—flashes, who were all for the short skirt, the inconceivably tight black satin skirt, which, with its fringe trimmings, makes the mere male wonder how one so garbed can quite dare to take the risk of ordinary outdoor life. There were the usual white-stockinged legs, the postage-stamp turbans, the dazzling pink parasols, and the endless cropped heads.

But the most popular model of the day, if you must know, was worn by the inter-allied costumed, its colors were red, white and blue, and it is said to have been designed by G. H. Q. after three long days of consultation. It was slightly deolite, altogether becoming to the hundreds of young American expeditionary force contestants who wore it on the field. It was, all things considered, the most intriguing costume of the day.

Chinese Journalists Attend.

In the front-line boxes, where sat the representatives of the allied commissions who brought the contesting nations, one saw the beginnings of a league of nations, for in one of the Chinese peace commission, Mrs. Herbert Hoover, in the severest of tailored gowns, Mrs. F. Louis Slade, with a Y. M. C. A. star, all in uniform; Mme. Helena Paderewski, in gray uniform; the Comtesse de Falcien, the Marquise de Polignac, and her husband from every country on the allied map.

And then, up and down the sandy streets of the stadium camp were plenty of little mademoiselles with papas and mammas and their French—or American—flashes, who were all for the short skirt, the inconceivably tight black satin skirt, which, with its fringe trimmings, makes the mere male wonder how one so garbed can quite dare to take the risk of ordinary outdoor life. There were the usual white-stockinged legs, the postage-stamp turbans, the dazzling pink parasols, and the endless cropped heads.

But the most popular model of the day, if you must know, was worn by the inter-allied costumed, its colors were red, white and blue, and it is said to have been designed by G. H. Q. after three long days of consultation. It was slightly deolite, altogether becoming to the hundreds of young American expeditionary force contestants who wore it on the field. It was, all things considered, the most intriguing costume of the day.

Chinese Journalists Attend.

In the front-line boxes, where sat the representatives of the allied commissions who brought the contesting nations, one saw the beginnings of a league of nations, for in one of the Chinese peace commission, Mrs. Herbert Hoover, in the severest of tailored gowns, Mrs. F. Louis Slade, with a Y. M. C. A. star, all in uniform; Mme. Helena Paderewski, in gray uniform; the Comtesse de Falcien, the Marquise de Polignac, and her husband from every country on the allied map.

And then, up and down the sandy streets of the stadium camp were plenty of little mademoiselles with papas and mammas and their French—or American—flashes, who were all for the short skirt, the inconceivably tight black satin skirt, which, with its fringe trimmings, makes the mere male wonder how one so garbed can quite dare to take the risk of ordinary outdoor life. There were the usual white-stockinged legs, the postage-stamp turbans, the dazzling pink parasols, and the endless cropped heads.

But the most popular model of the day, if you must know, was worn by the inter-allied costumed, its colors were red, white and blue, and it is said to have been designed by G. H. Q. after three long days of consultation. It was slightly deolite, altogether becoming to the hundreds of young American expeditionary force contestants who wore it on the field. It was, all things considered, the most intriguing costume of the day.

Chinese Journalists Attend.

In the front-line boxes, where sat the representatives of the allied commissions who brought the contesting nations, one saw the beginnings of a league of nations, for in one of the Chinese peace commission, Mrs. Herbert Hoover, in the severest of tailored gowns, Mrs. F. Louis Slade, with a Y. M. C. A. star, all in uniform; Mme. Helena Paderewski, in gray uniform; the Comtesse de Falcien, the Marquise de Polignac, and her husband from every country on the allied map.

And then, up and down the sandy streets of the stadium camp were plenty of little mademoiselles with papas and mammas and their French—or American—flashes, who were all for the short skirt, the inconceivably tight black satin skirt, which, with its fringe trimmings, makes the mere male wonder how one so garbed can quite dare to take the risk of ordinary outdoor life. There were the usual white-stockinged legs, the postage-stamp turbans, the dazzling pink parasols, and the endless cropped heads.

But the most popular model of the day, if you must know, was worn by the inter-allied costumed, its colors were red, white and blue, and it is said to have been designed by G. H. Q. after three long days of consultation. It was slightly deolite, altogether becoming to the hundreds of young American expeditionary force contestants who wore it on the field. It was, all things considered, the most intriguing costume of the day.

Chinese Journalists Attend.

In the front-line boxes, where sat the representatives of the allied commissions who brought the contesting nations, one saw the beginnings of a league of nations, for in one of the Chinese peace commission, Mrs. Herbert Hoover, in the severest of tailored gowns, Mrs. F. Louis Slade, with a Y. M. C. A. star, all in uniform; Mme. Helena Paderewski, in gray uniform; the Comtesse de Falcien, the Marquise de Polignac, and her husband from every country on the allied map.

And then, up and down the sandy streets of the stadium camp were plenty of little mademoiselles with papas and mammas and their French—or American—flashes, who were all for the short skirt, the inconceivably tight black satin skirt, which, with its fringe trimmings, makes the mere male wonder how one so garbed can quite dare to take the risk of ordinary outdoor life. There were the usual white-stockinged legs, the postage-stamp turbans, the dazzling pink parasols, and the endless cropped heads.

But the most popular model of the day, if you must know, was worn by the inter-allied costumed, its colors were red, white and blue, and it is said to have been designed by G. H. Q. after three long days of consultation. It was slightly deolite, altogether becoming to the hundreds of young American expeditionary force contestants who wore it on the field. It was, all things considered, the most intriguing costume of the day.

Chinese Journalists Attend.

In the front-line boxes, where sat the representatives of the allied commissions who brought the contesting nations, one saw the beginnings of a league of nations, for in one of the Chinese peace commission, Mrs. Herbert Hoover, in the severest of tailored gowns, Mrs. F. Louis Slade, with a Y. M. C. A. star, all in uniform; Mme. Helena Paderewski, in gray uniform; the Comtesse de Falcien, the Marquise de Polignac, and her husband from every country on the allied map.

And then, up and down the sandy streets of the stadium camp were plenty of little mademoiselles with papas and mammas and their French—or American—flashes, who were all for the short skirt, the inconceivably tight black satin skirt, which, with its fringe trimmings, makes the mere male wonder how one so garbed can quite dare to take the risk of ordinary outdoor life. There were the usual white-stockinged legs, the postage-stamp turbans, the dazzling pink parasols, and the endless cropped heads.

But the most popular model of the day, if you must know, was worn by the inter-allied costumed, its colors were red, white and blue, and it is said to have been designed by G. H. Q. after three long days of consultation. It was slightly deolite, altogether becoming to the hundreds of young American expeditionary force contestants who wore it on the field. It was, all things considered, the most intriguing costume of the day.

Chinese Journalists Attend.

In the front-line boxes, where sat the representatives of the allied commissions who brought the contesting nations, one saw the beginnings of a league of nations, for in one of the Chinese peace commission, Mrs. Herbert Hoover, in the severest of tailored gowns, Mrs. F. Louis Slade, with a Y. M. C. A. star, all in uniform; Mme. Helena Paderewski, in gray uniform; the Comtesse de Falcien, the Marquise de Polignac, and her husband from every country on the allied map.

And then, up and down the sandy streets of the stadium camp were plenty of little mademoiselles with papas and mammas and their French—or American—flashes, who were all for the short skirt, the inconceivably tight black satin skirt, which, with its fringe trimmings, makes the mere male wonder how one so garbed can quite dare to take the risk of ordinary outdoor life. There were the usual white-stockinged legs, the postage-stamp turbans, the dazzling pink parasols, and the endless cropped heads.

But the most popular model of the day, if you must know, was worn by the inter-allied costumed, its colors were red, white and blue, and it is said to have been designed by G. H. Q. after three long days of consultation. It was slightly deolite, altogether becoming to the hundreds of young American expeditionary force contestants who wore it on the field. It was, all things considered, the most intriguing costume of the day.

Chinese Journalists Attend.

In the front-line boxes, where sat the representatives of the allied commissions who brought the contesting nations, one saw the beginnings of a league of nations, for in one of the Chinese peace commission, Mrs. Herbert Hoover, in the severest of tailored gowns, Mrs. F. Louis Slade, with a Y. M. C. A. star, all in uniform; Mme. Helena Paderewski, in gray uniform; the Comtesse de Falcien, the Marquise de Polignac, and her husband from every country on the allied map.

And then, up and down the sandy streets of the stadium camp were plenty of little mademoiselles with papas and mammas and their French—or American—flashes, who were all for the short skirt, the inconceivably tight black satin skirt, which, with its fringe trimmings, makes the mere male wonder how one so garbed can quite dare to take the risk of ordinary outdoor life. There were the usual white-stockinged legs, the postage-stamp turbans, the dazzling pink parasols, and the endless cropped heads.

But the most popular model of the day, if you must know, was worn by the inter-allied costumed, its colors were red, white and blue, and it is said to have been designed by G. H. Q. after three long days of consultation. It was slightly deolite, altogether becoming to the hundreds of young American expeditionary force contestants who wore it on the field. It was, all things considered, the most intriguing costume of the day.

Chinese Journalists Attend.

In the front-line boxes, where sat the representatives of the allied commissions who brought the contesting nations, one saw the beginnings of a league of nations, for in one of the Chinese peace commission, Mrs. Herbert Hoover, in the severest of tailored gowns, Mrs. F. Louis Slade, with a Y. M. C. A. star, all in uniform; Mme. Helena Paderewski, in gray uniform; the Comtesse de Falcien, the Marquise de Polignac, and her husband from every country on the allied map.

And then, up and down the sandy streets of the stadium camp were plenty of little mademoiselles with papas and mammas and their French—or American—flashes, who were all for the short skirt, the inconceivably tight black satin skirt, which, with its fringe trimmings, makes the mere male wonder how one so garbed can quite dare to take the risk of ordinary outdoor life. There were the usual white-stockinged legs, the postage-stamp turbans, the dazzling pink parasols, and the endless cropped heads.